MORRIS L. NOW LANGUISHES IN THE ARDMORE JAIL

(From the Ardmoreite)
O. L. Williams, late of Ada, who for the past two weeks has been a resident of this city, was placed in the federal jail here Friday night under the charge of obtaining money under false pretense. Williams, during the time he has been in Ardmore, or rather since Oct. 16, has been proprietor and editor of the Ardmore Republican, a partisan newspaper edited in this city. He came here from Ada where he formerly ran a newspaper.

Mr. Williams, it is alleged came with a proposition which he presented to the leaders in the republican party and the republican campaign committee of this district. This proposition it is said, is no more or less than that the members of the party agreed to lend Mr. Williams $500 with which he was to pay the freight on a printing establishment at Ada and also had paid for the plant which was at the depot in this city. Without investigating the truthfulness of this statement, it is said that Mr. Williams negotiated the loan. The agreement was entered into that this amount should be paid back from the receipts derived from the Weekly Republican, a copy of which has never appeared. It is also alleged that Williams borrowed $80 from Jake Bodovitz of this city on the same assertion. Williams' arrest is said to have been brought about from offers he had made to democratic leaders in regard to the use of his paper which lead republicans to believe that there was something amiss.

On investigation it is said to have been found that Williams owned no such printing establishments as he had represented. He was arrested Friday night and has not yet made an attempt to get bail, although his attorneys will do so Monday.

J. W. Harrell, chairman of the republican committee, stated yesterday that Williams' arrest came as a surprise to the republican committee. Mr. Harrell said that Williams was running the Republican without the backing of any member of the party, financially other than the loan of $500 made up by prominent republicans of this section and loaned him just as the bank would have done with good security. Certain it is that he had the good will of the party and was running a party sheet, but other than that no one else was connected with the paper as proprietor. Arrangements were made for publishing the paper yesterday afternoon. For further publication, however there have been no arrangements.

Orris L. Williams is well known in Ada through his meteoric career as publisher for a few weeks of the Southern Republican. From all reports he grafted the local republicans shamefully. Depending upon his protestations that he had plenty of money to run a first-class paper and wanted no bonus, leaders of the party here contracted to guarantee him 1,000 subscribers, or in effect to advance him $1,000. In return he was to publish the paper for at least one year. These gentlemen assert Williams' intent was fraudulent from the beginning and he was broke at the start. Altogether he secured from local republicans between $600 and $700, and they say they will file a bunch of complaints against him charging his procuring money under false pretenses.

ROOSEVELT WILL BROOK NO PARTISAN CROOKEDISM

Washington, D. C. Nov. 5--It comes straight from the White House that the president has his eye on the territories, especially Oklahoma and Indian Territory, in the election to be held on November 6.

He has been informed that his canvassing boards in these territories are likely to allow their partisanship to sway them in the performance of their duty and he does not intend for any such thing.

The president has appointed men in Oklahoma, Indian Territory, New Mexico and Arizona to watch the action of his representatives to see that they do nothing that will rise to a scandal to that for which his party had to suffer as the result of the election in Colorado.

The president is very much interested in the election of these territories where he desires to see joint statehood win in Arizona and New Mexico and see justice done in the election of delegates to the constitutional convention in the new state of Oklahoma.

It came straight from him that he will not stand for any partisanship that will do injustice to the will of the people of the new state and that he will take summary vengeance upon any of his representatives who attempt to perpetrate a fraud or allow such to be done in the coming election.

It is known here that both Justice Clayton and Gill are applicants for the federal judgeship in the eastern half of the new state and that Mr. Bixby, the other member of the districting and canvassing board appointed by him, will be applicant for a big federal position.

If these gentlemen allow anything to be done that savors of fraud in this election they will be held to a strict accountability, and it is a safe prediction that their ambitions will meet with a frost at the hands of an angry president.

ENTHUSIASM AT MIDLAND

Intense Interest Being Taken in the Coming Election.

Judge Henry M. Furman and Col. W. T. Cox, Saturday night, attended a rousing meeting of democrats at Midland. They report it to have been one of the genuine old revival sort. The house was filled to overflowing with enthusiastic democrats eager to hear the truth and eager to vote their convictions.

Judge Furman addressed them at considerable length, thoroughly and candidly discussing the issues of the campaign. He was given a most cordial hearing, and the democrats are determined to vote out there whatever be the sacrifice of business entailed by loss of time. In the vast crowd not more than a half dozen republicans and socialists were observed.

SUBSTANTIAL GAINS ARE CONCEDED TO DEMOCRATS

Washington Nov. 5--With election day but a few hours away the political situation has crystallized to an extent that permits of a survey of the field, limited, however to the point where the battle has waged the fiercest between the two dominant parties for control of the sixteenth congress and for state supremacy.

The managers of both the democratic campaigns agree that the democrats will make gains over their present representation in congress. Both are sure as to the States where the gains are to come from, and both are directing the energies of the closing hours of the campaign to these battlefields.

In New York where the state campaign has eclipsed all else, the vote for congressmen will be disturbed by local conditions to such an extent that the returns Tuesday night will furnish the most interesting reading for those at the headquarters of both congressional committees.

All landside for each candidate for governor would carry with it unexpected results as to the Congressional ticket. It is conceded on a normal basis that the democrats will make gains in the state.

Pennsylvania furnishes another interesting situation, with the governorship fight between Lewis Emery, democrat, and the Lincoln party candidate, and former Mayor Stuart of Philadelphia, republican nominee. Many republicans and democratic "heavy weights" have been sent into the western part of the state and the campaign has been lively.

Summed up, the States in which both sides seem agreed that democratic gains may be made are Illinois, New York, Ohio, Pennsylvania and Maryland.

BIG BATTLE ON BETWEEN OFFICERS AND OUTLAWS

Shawnee, Okla., Nov. 4--advice received here state that the sheriff of Lincoln county and a posse of deputies have been engaged in a desperate battle with the Sanders outlaws for 48 hours, in the hills east of Meeker, fourteen miles north of this city.

Four hundred of shots have been exchanged, but the meager reports do not give account of any fatalities, as both the officers and outlaws are entrenched behind the rocks. The Sanders, it is believed, will fight to the death, while the officers are determined to capture them, dead or alive. Members of the Anti-Horse Thief Association are participating in the affair.

Arthur and Sam Sanders, together with several prisoners, recently escaped from the jail at Chandler. Arthur Sanders is wanted for the murder of his brother-in-law, J. B. Howard.

After the escape the fugitives drove the officers from the Sanders home, where they took refuge, with Winchester.

The outlaws had escaped to the hills east of Meeker. Bloodhounds were put on their trail and lead the officers to the hiding place when the battle occurred. It is believed that the outlaws are heading for the Seminole nation with the intention of hiding in the practically impenetrable hills.

100 DEPUTIES APPOINTED

Marshal Porter Selects Horde of Specialists for Election Day

Ardmore, I. T. Nov. 5.--G. Porter Saturday appointed 100 extra city marshals for the election which will be held next Tuesday for the selection of delegates to the constitutional convention. Marshal Porter has given strict orders to his field men to confiscate whisky and arrest all offenders who surreptitiously introduce malt goods of any nature. The marshal's force is keeping a sharp outlook for whisky peddlers and they will be vigorously prosecuted. It is stated that no intimidation of voters will be allowed.

The marshals are given orders to preserve the peace and they are not to interfere in any way with voters. In several sections Marshal Porter has been asked for officers on election day.

DEMOCRATS WILL HAVE AT LEAST 26 MAJORITY

From special correspondence to Oklahoman.

Guthrie, Okla., Nov. 5.--After a two weeks' tour over the new state, visiting every section and investigating not only among political organizations but among the business men in touch with conditions, the special correspondent of the Oklahoman is prepared to predict that the democrats will elect a clear majority of the constitutional convention.

The closest scrutiny possible under the circumstances warrant the conclusion that they will elect forty-two delegates on the Indian Territory side, and twenty-eight delegates on the Oklahoma side, giving them a majority in the convention of twenty-eight.

A week ago a resume of Indian territory was given, in which it was stated that the republicans can hardly hope to elect more than thirteen delegates on that side, giving them one doubtful district on local issues. The past week has been spent on the Oklahoma side, and reasons have been presented in the correspondence from each section visited for the expectations in the particular locality named. In this way a summary should give a pretty good indication of the outlook.

In Oklahoma the republicans are making claims, but nowhere do they offer substantial basis for exaggerated statements. A canvass of the vote of past years on county officers, taking the average of each, shows that there is a normal democratic majority in thirty of the fifty-five districts on the Oklahoma side. A closer organization of the party never has existed since the territory was opened to settlement.

To be specific, the democrats will come to the Oklahoma side with forty-two votes, the republicans with thirteen. At the pivotal point a healthy increase will be noted from Pottawatomie, Cleveland and Canadian counties, where there will be added seven democratic delegates, making a total of forty-nine. In the Strip counties and all north of the big Canadian river, embracing Beaver, Woodward, Woods, Grant, Garfield, Kay, Noble, Pawnee, Payne, Lincoln, Logan, Kingfisher, Blaine and Osage, there are to be elected thirty-eight delegates. Of these the democrats will get eight, giving them fifty-seven. This is a majority of the convention, without all southwestern Oklahoma and Oklahoma county. South of the Canadian there are seventeen districts, including the two in Day and Dewey. Of these seventeen the democrats are certain to carry twelve, and ought to get fourteen. But with twelve they will have a total of sixty-nine, without Oklahoma county.

And sixty-nine is a majority of twenty-six in the convention. Whatever Oklahoma county does will add or subtract from these figures, but can have no bearing on the general result, except that if democrats are elected they will be in sympathy with the majority of the convention.

Editorially last Saturday the News mentioned a report to the effect that the republican chairman of the election board for the Reagan precinct was a fugitive from justice, under accusation of a heinous offense. Later it has been learned that the statement is erroneous. We are reliably informed that the man who had this cloud upon him is one Doss who was a resident of Reagan and who was a member of the republican control committee for the Tishomingo district. People of Reagan got the official duties of the two men confused and thought Doss had charge of the election; hence the erroneous rumor which reached Ada. The chairman of the Reagan election board is R. L. Frye, a substantial citizen and above reproach. Mr. Frye came to Ada Saturday evening and procured his election supplies, so there exists no uncertainty about the election being duly held at Reagan. The News regrets the mistake and is only to glad to correct the error.

WHY KIDNEY DISEASE IS DANGEROUS.

Neglect of the First Warning Symptoms is the Prime Cause of so Many Deaths from the Dreaded Bright's Disease.

It is Easily Curable in the Early Stages.

Kidney diseases are so destructive to human life because they do not manifest alarming symptoms until the constitution is seriously weakened and the strength exhausted. Then, too often, the remedies employed by many physicians are of indifferent or doubtful value, and the patient rapidly sinks under the disease. The wisest course is to apply a reliable kidney and liver remedy on the first appearance of the symptoms. A little uneasiness in the small of the back, digestive troubles, bowel irregularities and disorder in the urinary organs are matters of small moment in the estimation of strong men and women, yet they have a serious meaning. They show clearly that the kidneys are suffering and need help, which must be forthcoming at once to prevent serious, perhaps fatal consequences. A few doses of Prickly Ash Bitters at this time would prove of incalculable value in restoring the weakened organs to health. An investment of one dollar in a bottle of Prickly Ash Bitters when the disease is yet in the early stage will save hundreds of dollars in doctor's bills, besides the suffering that doubtfully follow should the disease be allowed to fasten itself in the body. The excellent curative power of Prickly Ash Bitters is not confined to the first stages of kidney disease. It is equally efficacious in severe or chronic cases. Physicians have used it as a last resort, in cases that defied their best efforts, with the most brilliant results, and it has shown its superiority over the many so-called kidney cures, now being loudly advertised, in instances innumerable.

Accept no substitute. Insist on having the genuine Prickly Ash Bitters with the large figure 3 in red on the front label.

What the Party Stands For.

Below is published in full the resolutions adopted by the democratic delegate district convention at Ada October 5th:

We the democrats of the 87th constitutional delegate district in the Indian Territory in convention assembled for the purpose of nominating a delegate for the constitutional convention for the new state of Oklahoma, wish:

1. To express our firm and lasting faith in the honesty, intelligence and wisdom of the people and our firm belief that they should have a right to decide all matters and elect all officers by a direct vote of the people to the end that they may get relief from the burdens and abuses which have been heaped upon them in the past when they were denied the right of free government to free men. We advocate, therefore, the initiative and referendum and the right to recall, so that the people may settle all questions of a public or a local nature as they may deem best and so that an official when elected to represent the people may be recalled from office at any time by a majority of the people, should he fail to represent the will of the people or prove untrue to the trust imposed in him.

2. We demand an ironclad anti-trust provision, also a corporation commission elected by the people, such commission to be empowered to exercise all necessary supervision of corporations including railroads, to see that the corporation charters are obeyed to the letter and without discrimination; do not occur without just punishment; to compel by the aid of courts, strict obedience to the laws enacted for the protection of patrons, employees and honest competition.

3. Our constitution should forbid any railroads or other corporations to do more than require an easement of any lands and then only on such lands as are necessary to furnish right-of-way, station grounds or for shops or for some other necessary department of the corporation, and should a corporation abandon its legitimate business or have its charter forfeited then the use and occupancy of such land shall revert to the original grantor, his heirs or assigns.

4. We favor a provision of the constitution providing for factory and mine inspectors, said inspectors to be men who know from actual experience or training who to ascertain and correct abuses so prevalent in factory and mine.

5. We are opposed to the youth of our land being prematurely employed in the mines and factories. There should be a constitutional act protecting the boys and girls of the state in that respect.

6. We believe that labor should be respected in its demand that eight hours shall constitute a day's work in all underground works and other works carried on by the state, county or municipal government.

7. We favor establishing and maintaining for as long a period each year a free school system; the state should manufacture and furnish free, or at cost, uniform school books, by this means curbing the school book trust.

8. We favor a bonded school fund commission elected by the people, so that the state school fund is not in any way misappropriated. We favor the retention of all the public lands now owned by the state, unless directed sold by a vote of the people.

9. We are opposed to the coal lands of the state falling into the hands of private monopolies and favor a system by which the coal lands may be acquired by the state for the benefit of the public school fund, and the general public who are consumers of coal, to the end that the Indians may receive just and fair compensation for their property and the public protected from extortion and injustice. Should the state own the coal lands we advocate dealing separately with the surface, that more homes may be given the bona fide settlers of the state.

10. We demand that no public officer or candidate for any office within the state or from any portion of it shall use passes, or free transportation upon any railroad or other public service corporation and that it shall be declared a felony to accept same.

11. We believe the constitutional convention should memorialize congress to remove all the restrictions from the lands of the tribal citizens, except the homestead of fullbloods. That a just and reasonable limitation be placed upon the amount of said land to be purchased by a person, to the end that this land may become the home of the actual farmer and settler. We are opposed to this land falling into the hands of the corporation speculator and grafter.

12. We favor having incorporated into our state structure an alien land law.

13. We favor a state wide road system, to be maintained by a general road tax and we favor the working of the convicts on the public roads and the transfer of all able-bodied convicts from northern prisons to be employed on public roads where most needed.

14. We advocate a provision levying a one per centum tax on earnings of all corporations with intangible assets. We also advocate taxing all intangible assets of corporations.

15. We favor uniform and maximum tax rate.

16. We declare unalterable opposition to all trusts, combinations and monopolies which seek to control the necessities of life and thereby extort from the people an unjust and unfair price and we denounce all persons or parties, who favor such, as being enemies to the people and to the best interests of the country, and brand any attempt which would encourage any monopoly as treachery to the people and country and as taking the taxing power from the government and placing it in the power of private parties or corporations to tax the people at their own will or selfish interests may dictate, and demand that the people by properly safeguarded in the constitution.

17. We favor proper and effective laws which will prevent bribery and corruption and convict those who shall either give or take bribes.

18. We favor the election of all officers by direct vote of the people and favor an amendment to the constitution of the United States providing for the election of United senators by direct vote of the people, and until the constitution is so amended we demand the nomination of the United States senators by direct vote of the people and that the state legislatures be required to elect senators so nominated.

19. We demand that it be made an offense punishable by imprisonment for a corporation to contribute to a campaign fund, also a provision demanding publicity of campaign contributions.

20. We favor a clause in the constitution which will give the people the right to amend the constitution at any time by direct vote.

21. We favor that the rate of interest in the new state may be made: legal rate at 8 per cent and contract rate 10 per cent, and that a reasonable homestead and exemption law be passed.

22. We favor a proper and effective limitation on creation of public indebtedness unless submitted to a vote of the people.

23. We demand separate schools, separate coaches and separate waiting rooms for the negroes, but demand that no discrimination be made in the quality of accommodations and that ample provisions be made for all.

24. We demand a constitution formed in accordance with the Jeffersonian idea, with equal rights to all and special privileges to none and with such safeguards of legislation as shall insure protection to the rights of the people.

25. We favor the nomination of all officers by primaries.

26. In order to settle the prohibition question at once and thus divorce it from the politics of the state, we favor the submission to the people of a separate article which shall become a part of the constitution, if ratified by a majority of the people voting therefor.

27. We favor a just and reasonable fellow servants law which shall fully protect all employees in whatsoever capacity engaged.

28. We are opposed to government by injunction whereby the rights of the people are restricted and transferred arbitrarily under the hands of unfriendly judges.

29. We favor a state agricultural department, agricultural schools and experimental stations.

OVERDRAFTS

It is becoming well known by business men that overdrafts, whether large or small, are not approved by the comptroller of the currency. The large central banks allow overdrafts only in a very small way, and this, it matters not how small, is not approved by the powers that be. This unbusinesslike habit of overdrafts grew out of advancing on moving products, such as cotton, grain and fat stock on the move. The overdraft system is wrong and the man whose account is always overdrawn is the man who spends more money than he makes and will finally have no bank account.

Barton in the 86th.

Judge C. O. Barton returned home Sunday after spending a week speaking in the 86th (Purcell) district, under assignment of state democratic headquarters.

The judge is a power on the stump and his work will bring results up in the shoe string district. He says the white folks up there are mad over being so gerrymandered by the republican board, and they will gather Tuesday in great wagon loads and go and vote the democratic ticket, no matter how far they have to drive.

BIG NEWSPAPER DEAL

Muskogee Phoenix Sold to Democratic Syndicate

Muskogee, I. T. Nov. 5—Col Clarence B. Douglas has sold the Muskogee Phoenix to a local democratic syndicate for $40,000 and will give possession Nov. 10. Col Douglas purchased the paper less than five years ago for $4,500 at a mortgage sale after it had suspended and made it a leading republican paper of the two territories. The purchase price and a splendid modern home and some suburban property making an asset of more than $50,000 together with his personal expenses estimated at $12,000, represents the increase in value and the earnings of the property.

Col. Douglas had a cash capital when he founded the Phoenix $3.50 and borrowed money for the first week's payroll. This it is claimed, breaks the newspaper record of the southwest.

Checkered Career of Republic in Latin America

By R. S. STURGIS,
President of the Spanish Club of Boston.

Of course, the republic is not a success in Spanish America in the sense in which it is a success in this country.

The Spanish-American republic has been open to the criticism that it is not a republic at all, but that it is an oligarchy in many cases, and in other cases a dictatorship.

To answer the question, whether the republic in Spanish-America has been a success, one must conscientiously say both yes and no. It seems to have been a success in Argentina and Chili, for example, while of some other countries like Venezuela, Colombia and Peru one might say that it had been far from a success. But to say of any one country in Spanish-America that the republic there has been a success is to admit that in other countries it may be a success in time.

The people of Spanish-America have seen their country exploited for centuries for the selfish ends of individuals and groups of individuals. It is natural that the general idea of government should be that it is something that a man may get something out of, if he can manage to obtain a share in it. That, however, is not a view peculiar to Spanish-Americans; it is quite common in the United States, but not to the same extent as in Spanish-America.

I had very little confidence in the success of the Cuban republic, and was very agreeably disappointed until the recent events seemed to indicate that a large part of the people do not appear to be ready to submit to the will of the majority or to find some other method than civil war for the settlement of their political grievances.

Search for Pole Unprofitable

By JOHN RITCHIE, JR.,
of Boston Scientific Society.

years to traverse, could hardly be of possible use as an avenue for trading vessels or for pleasure parties, while from what is known of the commercial products of the region there seems to be little prospect of a return on the cost of exploration were this purely a business venture. The value of polar research, therefore, to the very best of our present knowledge, lies in fields other than the commercial.

The exploration of the poles has, however, a value to science, and, like many other matters in which much money is spent, this lies in added information or knowledge and mental satisfaction. Practically all the value of the science of astronomy lies apart from any help that it can give us in a business way. It is very true that we depend upon astronomy for our time, for great help in the navigation of vessels across the oceans, and for the ability to determine how far apart two places may be on the surface of the earth. But it is also true that enough is now known of the motions of the earth, moon and planets to serve every demand that is made by commerce. An observation once or twice a year, perhaps, and a few computations will be all that the business man can use commercially. But there are few who consider the large sums spent in astronomical research as wasted, because they add so largely to the knowledge that man has about his surroundings.

In the same way, most intelligent men do not begrudge the cost in time and human life that the search for the pole demands. The most of the disagreement and discussion on this subject is about the way to accomplish it, and on this point there seem to be nearly as many opinions as there are individuals.

Better Pay for Life Saving Service

By CAPT. J. L. MANSON,
Secretary Boston Marine Society.

man, of better physique than the sailor, and of as good physique as the member of any government service.

His work at times is exciting, but often tedious and wearisome, although it is neither so laborious nor so hazardous, on the whole, as that of the seaman. A man on board ship must from the nature of his occupation endure every storm that he encounters. He has no escape, he is confined to a small space, and he is obliged to render active service in the severest weather, oftentimes the severer the weather the more active the service.

The life-saver is in a more advantageous position, but at times he is exposed to dangers and hardships which threaten limb and life. Under these conditions, it seems no more than fair that the government should establish the principle that a life-saver who is disabled or fatally injured in the performance of his duty or while in active service should have his family, or his near relatives if they are dependent on him, provided for by a pension that would cover his incapacitation or death.

When we remember the kind of man who is most eagerly sought for the life-saving service, we may realize that it is essential that the service should be well paid. Such a man is young, active, alert, energetic, strong and brave and capable of endurance, and for him to-day there are numerous opportunities waiting in the active and more remunerative fields of enterprise.

The service is a necessary one, and it is necessary that it should contain men who are in every sense efficient to perform its duties.

If on the salary that life-savers get, with all the conditions of service, such men cannot be had, it is only a question of the degree of attraction that shall be offered. If the government does not now pay enough, and offer strong enough inducements to the right men, why the government must pay more and offer better inducements.

Maniac Murders Nurse to Prevent Her from Leaving

Ghastly Crime of Life Prisoner in a New York Asylum—Victim Warned, But Takes No Heed—Slaying Is Carefully Planned.

Fishkill, N. Y.—Lizzie Halliday, a life prisoner at the state hospital for the insane, has added the fifth murder to her record by killing with awful cruelty and cunning a girl nurse who had won her friendship by unvarying kindness.

Her victim was Nurse Nellie Wickes, aged 24, who was about to leave the asylum to take up professional nursing. It was the fear of losing her friend that prompted the maniac to take her life.

A week ago the nurse told the woman she soon would leave her. The murderess was downcast. She regarded the nurse for a moment, and then, in a tone of cold deliberation, exclaimed:

"If you try to leave me I will kill you."

"Oh, no, I guess not," said Miss Wickes, laughingly. "You wouldn't harm me."

From that moment the maniac planned the deed. She watched every movement of the nurse. Once she warned her not to leave. As the days passed a cruel gleam settled in her eyes.

Early the other morning Nurse Wickes approached and slipped her arm about the woman's waist.

"I'm going to leave you to-day," she said. "I want you to remember me, and not make any trouble."

"Mrs. Halliday turned away. Tears came to her eyes. Then she drew herself up to her full height, her lips moved convulsively, and she remarked in a low tone:

"You'd better not try it."

Miss Wickes left the corridor a few minutes later and went into a dressing room adjoining. The maniac followed her. In a moment she flung herself upon the nurse, pinned her to the floor, while she locked the door. Miss Wickes, alone in the room with the murderess, made a desperate fight for her life. But she was no match for the maniac.

Throttling the nurse, Mrs. Halliday snatched a pair of scissors from Miss Wickes' belt. Screaming, she sank the sharp blades again and again into the nurse's face and throat.

More than 200 times the scissor points were plunged down before nurses and attendants succeeded in breaking down the door. On the floor lay Miss Wickes, gasping her last breath. Mrs. Halliday stood at a window, calmly watching the death struggle. A maniacal smile of triumph lighted her face.

"She won't leave me now," she said, and laughed as she spoke.

Miss Wickes was hurried to a cot, but died within an hour without recovering consciousness. Mrs. Halliday laughed gleefully when told she was dead. Superintendent Lamb had Mrs. Halliday locked in a room and placed under special guard. She sat gazing with amused interest out of the window. She seemed to know precisely what she had done, but was indifferent.

When Coroner Goring asked her why she had committed the murder, she replied:

"She tried to leave me."

Mrs. Halliday will not be placed in a cell. Superintendent Lamb says she will be carefully guarded, but there will be no punishment for her.

"We have always watched her closely," he said, "but of late she has seemed so cheerful that we never dreamed her murderous impulse would return. She was fond of Miss Wickes. They used to talk together for hours, and Mrs. Halliday would take much delight in telling the nurse of her life."

"She would never mention the murders she had committed, but would dwell upon her childhood days. Mrs. Halliday was regarded by us as a trusty. She is entirely rational upon every subject. The homicidal mania is her only trouble. She has on different occasions struck some of the nurses and patients, but these attacks have not been vicious."

Wife with Whip Gets Gems Given by Spouse to Rival

Holding Weapon Over Trembling Husband She Compels Him to Bring Back Her Diamonds Bestowed Upon Widow.

Los Angeles.—Holding a horse-whip over her cowering husband, Mrs. George A. Gill, wife of a rich Pasadena man, compelled her spouse to go back into the cottage of Mrs. Maurine Walker, a widow at Redondo, which he had just left, and get diamonds worth several hundred dollars and return them to her.

Armed with the whip and accompanied by a detective, Mrs. Gill patrolled the street in front of the Walker cottage all night awaiting the appearance of her husband, whom she knew to be inside. At seven o'clock

"Go Back and Get Those Diamonds!"

Mrs. Gill entered the cottage and attempted to use the whip on her husband, but the officer restrained her. In a few moments the three emerged from the cottage—Gill appearing in a disheveled state—and a further scene was enacted on the porch.

"Go back into that house and get those diamonds—my diamond pin that you gave to that woman," cried the infuriated woman.

Gill obediently entered the cottage and returned, bearing the pieces of jewelry, which he handed over to his wife. Then Mrs. Gill led her husband, pale and trembling, to the car and started for home.

Principals in the affair were reluctant to discuss the case. Mr. Gill even declared he had not been in Redondo, and that he did not know Mrs. Walker.

Mrs. Walker refused absolutely to talk.

"I have nothing whatever to say on the subject," she said.

The affair has created a tremendous sensation in society in Pasadena, Redondo and Los Angeles. Mrs. Walker is a widow of a former Los Angeles banker. She owns a beautiful summer home at the seashore city.

Mrs. Walker and Gill became acquainted when the former lived in Pasadena a few years ago.

Girl Sees Fifteen-Foot Snake.

Pelan, Minn.—Miss Lena Mathieson, the 20-year-old daughter of a farmer, was driving a yoke of oxen mowing hay, when the biggest snake ever seen in Minnesota appeared. The oxen bellowed in terror and ran away, while the girl was thrown from the mower and severely injured. Miss Mathieson declares the snake was 15 feet long, and that its body at the largest place was as big as the Pelan mill smokestack. The young woman's veracity has never been doubted, and a large party of men has started in search of the reptile, intending to kill it and send the body to the Field Museum, in Chicago.

Ferret Attacks Baby Girl.

Hartford, Conn.—Mrs. Gus Pickett, of this city, discovered a ferret sucking the blood from the body of her two-year-old daughter, whom she had placed on a bed on the floor. The infant was almost dead when found, and when the mother picked up her baby the animal still clung to its hold and had to be killed before it could be made to let loose. The child may die.

ECENTRIC MILLIONAIRE.

ODD CHARACTERISTICS OF A WISCONSIN MILLIONAIRE.

Laid Foundation for His Wealth in Chicago After Great Fire—Eats at a Three-Cent Lunch Counter and Wears $6 Suit of Clothes.

Madison, Wis.—The spectacle of a millionaire being arrested for alleged violation of the city ordinances in leasing property for disorderly purposes has called attention to the unique personality of Frank A. Ogden. The capital city of Wisconsin cannot boast many millionaires. It is a city of sturdy, well-to-do people, who point with pride to Robert M. LaFollette, a type of poor man who has remained poor despite his extraordinary success in politics.

But Frank A. Ogden is another type, and it is probable that no city in the country possesses a citizen who has such a quantity of contradictory habits as Mr. Ogden. His leading characteristic is his eccentricity. If he were not worth a million it would attract but little attention, but in some ways he emulates the late Russell Sage.

Ogden was one of the men who got a start in the big Chicago fire of 1871. It may be said that his prosperity dates from that tragic episode. With the natural acumen of the business man Ogden saw his opportunity and made the most of it. He decided that he could make a fortune if he made the proper use of his money, and scarcely before the embers of the fire had died down Ogden was negotiating for leases on all the buildings he could get hold of. Possessing ready money, this was an easy task at that time. He immediately released the buildings at greatly advanced figures, and to this is due his rise in fortune.

Right after the fire property commenced to soar in value, and money commenced to flow in a steady stream into the Ogden coffers. Well placed investments increased his income, and he soon was known as one of the city's wealthy men. For years Ogden has lived a quiet life in Madison, occasionally coming into the limelight on account of his well known parsimonious habits. He is one of the most abstemious of the inhabitants of this city, and says he does not know how much he is worth.

Eating his meals at a 3-cent counter, spending a considerable portion of his time in the capitol park in a rustic seat reading the daily papers which others have discarded, Frank A. Ogden, the citizen, wearing a $6 suit, has long been stigmatized in the town for his frugality. Ogden, the business man, sweeps out his town hotel office, shaves himself, and keeps business notes on the back of envelopes.

To those who inquire his business he replies that "he is a retired lumber merchant, reasonably successful and satisfied." Ogden was born at Painted Post, N. Y., somewhere about 1830. He declines to give his exact age, but some time ago, in response to an inquiry, said, playfully: "If any young girl wants to get married, I am old enough."

Another peculiarity of his in this respect is to give his age as 40. He is, however, more than 70, as he entered the University of Wisconsin with the first class in 1850, 56 years ago.

The Ogdens left New York in 1836, starting overland for Wisconsin. They passed through Chicago and Frank Ogden says of the incident: "That part of the city of Chicago west of the river was a wet marsh and valued at $15 an acre. I had just $15 then, but did not conclude to invest."

FRANK A. OGDEN.
(Wisconsin's Most Eccentric Millionaire.)

Ogden's first real estate venture was in Madison. He had $30 and borrowed $20 more of his mother to make a payment on four lots which he bought near the state university ground on time payment. Before the next payment became due he sold one lot for more than the four cost.

Mr. Ogden is said to be worth a million or more. Besides his two hotels in Madison, he has big holdings of immensely valuable lake front property in Chicago, property in Superior, Wis., in Kansas, and in the state of Washington, where he recently sold a township of land at a handsome profit. Some time ago he said he owned a hundred farms in Wisconsin, and at one time owned many more in Kansas. A Madison man who knows him well says: "He has the instinct of buying right. A man can easily get broke on land, but Ogden is too sharp."

Ogden got a big start by deals in Kansas. Without seeing the land he bought a big belt which some company offered to unload on him at a big figure. Ogden has faith in the future. He buys on a 15-year basis. He says every 15 years each section, and particularly each pioneer section, takes a big fresh start. He is willing to wait his 15 years to double his money.

BOY GUARDED LIKE TREASURE.

Rockefeller's Grandson Is Carefully Protected Against Kidnapers.

Cleveland, O.—No youthful monarch ever lived under stricter surveillance of an armed guard than little Fowler McCormick, who is visiting his grandfather, John D. Rockefeller, at his Forest Hill home. This young heir of the money king has not been left unguarded for a moment during his week's stay at the Rockefeller place.

Fowler, a bright, promising lad of nine years, is the son of Harold F. McCormick and Edith Rockefeller McCormick. At his Chicago home, a French maid is considered sufficient to protect the young millionaire against any danger of kidnapping.

Since his arrival at Cleveland, the watchful eye of the French maid has been reinforced by the keen, sharp, practical eyes of two stalwart guards, who are always within easy reach of the boy as he plays about the grounds, takes a hand at golf with his grandfather, or drives or rides on the country roads.

Fowler McCormick will be one of the richest men in the world, for he will not only inherit the millions from his grandfather, Rockefeller, but will also share with his little sister, Muriel McCormick, the fortune of his father, who inherited his wealth from his father, Cyrus McCormick, who laid the McCormick fortunes in the great reaper machine industry in Chicago.

The death of little "Jack" McCormick, the favorite grandson of John D. Rockefeller, in 1901, was one of the great sorrows in the life of the money king.

Edith, another child of Harold McCormick, died about ten years ago.

AN IMPOSING MEMORIAL.

Monument Erected by State of New York at Lookout Mountain.

New York.—New York's beautiful monument on Lookout mountain speaks for itself in the picture herewith. The memorial is now finished, with the exception of the bronze work, which is to be very elaborate and artistic and will require much care and time to finish.

As for the site—it is one of the finest in the country. "There is nothing like it in all America," said Prince Henry, when he stood on Lookout mountain during his inspection of the battlefields on his visit to this country.

The jutting promontory of the historic peak gives a marvelous view extending into seven states. On a sunny afternoon or in the early gray of the morning dawn or at sunset when the sky for hundreds of miles flames in every color from fiery red to soft pearl and the deep green of the sea, the scene is one never to be forgotten.

New York's memorial is by far the most imposing of all the many monuments of the other states marking one of America's most picturesque battlefields.

Though New York had no troops at Chickamauga in 1863, still she claims one of the greatest heroes of the conflict—Gen. Gordon Granger, a native New Yorker.
